МОДУЛИ ДЛЯ ПЕРЕДАЧИ ДАННЫХ

Технические характеристики

Rail-A I/O, Rail-H I/O

Rail-H I/O Family

Honeywell's Rail-H I/O family of I/O modules combines the small size and cost-efficiency of its predecessor, Rail-A I/O, with the ability to perform in hazardous locations to help users meet the most demanding process requirements.

Overview

Honeywell's Rail-H I/O is a compact, modular I/O system designed to perform under harsh conditions. Similar to the Rail-A I/O family, it can be installed in small cabinets, thus saving space.

The Rail-H I/O modules can be mounted directly in hazardous locations such as Div 1/Zone 1. The modules are Din-rail mountable and can be located both at the process and remote to the control processor, providing users further flexibility. The Rail-H I/O family of I/O modules brings significant design, installation, and wiring savings for intrinsically safe applications.

Rail-A I/O System

Honeywell's Rail-A I/O is a compact, cost-effective modular I/O system designed for distributed applications. It is Din-rail mountable and provides flexible and space saving mounting options to users.

Overview

The Rail-A I/O hardware has a compact design and fits in small cabinets, thus saving space. The modularity of network adapter, I/O, and the backplane simplifies the mounting and installation process. The I/O modules can be located both at the process and remote to the control processor, thereby providing further flexibility to users.

The Rail-A I/O family comes with separate terminal bases, allowing I/O modules to be replaced without rewiring, eliminating labor costs and ensuring greater ease of use.
